【Judging Standard】

The judges and the tournament judicial committee members have equal authority to judge the competition, but all final decisions regarding the competition rest with the Chief Executive Referee in charge. Participants and their officials may not raise any objections to the results of the match to the referees or organizers.

【The Way of Judging】

The winner of a kumite match will be determined by ippon, awase ippon with wazaari ni-hon, hantei-decision, or a win due to the opponent's disqualification or withdrawal.

The decision on the winner will be as follows, but may be changed at the discretion of the Chief Executive Referee.

• Ippon

When a fighter instantly lands a punch, kick, elbow, etc., excluding any illegal area, knocking the opponent down for 3 seconds or more or causing him to temporarily lose the will to fight.

• Wazaari

- ①When a fighter instantly lands a punch, kick, elbow, etc., excluding any illegal area, knocking the opponent down, and stand up within 3 seconds.
- ②When an opposing fighters loses his balance or fighting spirit due to a valid attack, even if he does not fall.
- ③Depending on the timing, it is possible to score a punch motion by using a leg sweep or other technique on an opponent that has been knocked down.
- ④If an upper roundhouse kick lands accurately and with good timing while wearing a head guard (protective gear), such as for a junior, it will be considered a wazaari.
- ⑤For high school students and younger, if a front kick lands accurately and the athlete falls on his buttocks, it is considered a wazaari.
- ⑥2-wazaari makes ippon

【Decision & Overtime】

- ①If the winner is not decided by ippon within the time limit, the match will be decided by hantei-decision.
- ②The decision will be made by three or more of the one referee and four judges, but if there is no consensus among the three or more, the match will be a draw and over time and second over time will be done.*Only the final match uses the second over time match. Other matches must be decided by the first over time.
- ③In the event of a draw after the 2nd over time, the bout with the lighter weight will be awarded

【Foul】

- ①Attacks to the face and neck with hands and elbows.
- ②Kicks to the groin, headbutts, attacks on downed opponents.
- ③Attacking by grabbing the opponent's uniform, arms, or legs, or by grabbing the opponent above the neck.
- ④Attacking the opponent from behind.

  - Exceed under 2kg, 1 warning
  - 2kg to 5kg, 1 point deduction
  - Over 5kg, disqualification
- ⑩In addition, any foul that the referee considers to be a foul will result in disqualification for serious case, and a warning will be given for unintentional. Severe fouls may result in a point deduction with just one instalment (intentional punching in the face, grabbing, etc.)

【Courtesy】

It is important to remember that in a martial arts match, courtesy is more important than winning or losing. Matching means in Japanese is trying, and more than determining victory or defeat, it is a place to learn. The Kyokushin Tezuka Group bases its matches on this idea of learning. During a match, you should remain calm, unexcited, and aware of your surroundings, including the referee, as a Budo-ka.

- ①Bow politely when entering and leaving the venue and at the start and end of the match.
- ②If the outcome is clear, do not finish the opponent.
- ③Do not look down on others.
- ④Do not appeal to the referee more than necessary.
- ⑤When you win or score a wazari, do not show off your victory (fist pump, etc).
- ⑥If you lose, don't look down, show frustration, or act miserable.
- ⑦The match ends with both parties praising each other for the match itself, rather than the outcome.
- ⑧Coaches and cheerleaders should refrain from heckling, yelling, mocking the opponents, and other disrespectful cheering.
- ⑨No one other than the fighters may enter the arena after the match (hugging, lifting up the players in the air, etc.).

⑩Learn that mental attitude is more important than outside figure. If the judges determine that the above is significantly lacking, they may be penalized or disqualified.

Participants and their officials may not raise any objections to the results of the match to the referees or organizers.

【The Way of Judging】

The winner of a kata is determined by a decision win, or a win due to disqualification or withdrawal of the opponent.

#Win-lose format (two players compete based on their superiority or inferiority)

Judgement is made by three or five judges who raise a flag for one of them. There are no draws. The referee's decision alone is not accepted. Each judge has the right to appeal and discuss.

#Top score format

(When three or more players compete based on their superiority)

Compete based on the total score (or average score) excluding the highest and lowest scores.

A set number of top players for each tournament will survive.

#Judging content

Types and content of kata are not judged, respect for difference in each dojo, or school.

- ① courtesy, respect, and spirit
- ② Majesty, grace, and expressiveness using the whole body
- ③ Flexibility and linkage of techniques
- ④ Stability of the lower body and footwork
- ⑤ Slowness, sharpness, and agility of movements

*If the competition is a win-lose format, the judges will rank each category and raise their flag to the person who scores three or more.

*If the competition is a top score format, each judge will give 10 points, for a total of 50 points.

#Deductions

- ① If a pose of finishing motion is performed for more than 2 seconds (other for less than 1 second), it is

However, this does not apply if it is necessary for the kata, such as the part where the front kick is performed from the musubi dachi of "Pinan San" and the movement to the kiba dachi is made.

② If the athlete stumbles or loses balance while moving, 2-4 points will be deducted from "Lower body stability and footwork" depending on the severity.

③ If the athlete is polite, 2-4 points will be deducted from "Courtesy, Respect, and Spirit" each time.

【Foul】

Disturbing the opponent's performance.

【Courtesy】

It is important to remember that in a martial arts match, courtesy is more important than winning or losing.

Matching means in Japanese is trying, and more than determining victory or defeat, it is a place to learn. The Kyokushin Tezuka Group bases its matches on this idea of learning. During a match, you should remain calm, unexcited, and aware of your surroundings, including the referee, as a Budo-ka.
